Steeped in History

The presence of early human inhabitants along the West Coast of Florida dates back to around 8,000 B.C., and there is evidence that Native Americans lived along the waterfront of Sarasota and Southwest Florida more than 3,000 years ago. At this time, the shoreline of the Gulf of Mexico was over 100 miles farther to the west. As the Pleistocene glaciers slowly melted, sea levels began rising, resulting in the Florida coastline of today. This new landscape provided attractive locations for human settlements.

Historical information compiled from: "Sarasota Over My Shoulder," by Janet Snyder Matthews, the Sarasota County Department of Historical Resources, and sarasotafl.org.

SARASOTA: THE CIRCUS TOWN

John Ringling, of Ringling Brothers and Barnum & Bailey Circus, made his mark on the community with much flair. Not only did he and his wife, Mable, build a magnificent Venetian-style mansion on Sarasota Bay—named Cà d’Zan (house of John)—but they went a few steps further in positioning Sarasota as “Florida’s Cultural Coast.”

John and Mable needed a place to house their ever-growing collection of works by Peter Paul Reubens and other masters of 17th-century Italian and Flemish art. We know that collection today as the John & Mable Ringling Museum of Art, one of America’s most celebrated art museums.

Ringling’s influence didn’t stop there. As a developer and dreamer, Ringling used his circus elephants to help build the first bridge from the mainland to St. Armands Key, where he went on to develop casually elegant retail center—St. Armands Circle.

In 1927, the circus’ winter quarters were moved to Sarasota—branding the area as a “circus town.”

SARASOTA COUNTY

Sarasota first became a “modern” town in the 1880s after a promotion in Scotland by the Florida Mortgage and Investment Company in 1885. For many, it presented a breath of fresh air, promising an abundance of fertile land, plentiful citrus groves and affordable housing. Scottish families looking for a new start set sail for Sarasota, but found little more than a frontier camp upon their arrival. However, among those who stayed to complete their dream was John

The Mistletoe

Hamilton Gillespie, a Scottish aristocrat, lawyer, and member of the Royal Company of Archers—The Queen’s Bodyguard for Scotland.

Gillespie built America’s first golf course, right here in Sarasota. Quite the entrepreneur, Mr. Gillespie also built the upscale DeSoto Hotel on Main Street for tourists and prospective investors. In 1902, he was elected as Sarasota’s first mayor.

Michael and Drayton’s great uncle, John Savarese, provided the first regular scheduled service from Tampa to Sarasota—The maiden voyage of the Mistletoe from Tampa to Sarasota on October 7, 1895 was a landmark in the development of Sarasota.

By the winter of 1910, Sarasota had a population of less than 1,000 when a visit from Bertha Honore

Palmer, a wealthy Chicago civic and social leader, was the catalyst to help change the little town from a sleepy fishing village to a cosmopolitan village. Her declaration that Sarasota Bay was more beautiful than the Bay of Naples caught the attention of the press and visionaries who led residents to enjoy its tropical charms.

The Roaring Twenties ended early for Sarasota, as Florida was one of the first areas in the United States to be affected by the financial problems that led to the Great Depression. During the 1950s, Sarasota again began to grow and modernize, with a group of imaginative architects attracting national attention with their contemporary and environmentally oriented style, which became known as the Sarasota School of Architecture. While many of those homes have been removed, altered or compromised, there are a number that remain or are now being meticulously restored.

MANATEE COUNTY

There is much evidence to claim that Manatee County has been settled as far back as the year 1,000 A.D. The first visitors were so taken with the peace and beauty of the water, they named it La Bahia de Espiritu Santo, which means Bay of the Holy Spirit. When Spanish conquistador Hernando DeSoto landed at Shaw's Point, near the mouth of Tampa Bay in 1539, what is now Manatee County was the southern boundary for the Tocobagan tribe.

In 1842, Josiah Gates settled the area, and two brothers named Hector and Joseph Braden became the major landowners and later the namesake of the town. The area to the south of the mouth of Tampa Bay would eventually become Manatee County in 1855—named after the sea cow that frequents area waters. By 1873, there were nine schools with 200 students enrolled. In May 1878, the first post office was officially established. The current city of Bradenton was formed in 1943, when the Florida legislature merged the cities of Manatee—incorporated in 1888—and Bradentown.

The De Soto National Memorial in Bradenton marks the spot where De Soto is believed to have landed. The South Florida Museum features Native American and natural history exhibits, as well as historical dioramas. For a glimpse of life in 19th century Bradenton, visitors can tour the renovated historic buildings of Manatee Village Historical Park.

CHARLOTTE COUNTY

The name for Charlotte Harbor may originally be a corruption of Carlos or Calos, words associated with the Calusa, the Native American group in southwest Florida at the time of Spanish contact. In 1565, the Spanish named Charlotte Harbor "Carlos Bay," followed by the English in 1775, who named the area Charlotte Harbor in tribute to the Queen Charlotte Sophia, wife of King George III.

In the 1950s, the now defunct General Development Corporation, led by the Mackle brothers, took advantage of the Florida land boom and developed land on both of Florida's coastlines. Among the areas they developed was Port Charlotte and North Port. Ultimately, Port Charlotte would become the most populated center in Charlotte County, although like most GDC developments, Port Charlotte remained unincorporated. Punta Gorda is the only incorporated city in Charlotte County.

GASPARILLA ISLAND

Gasparilla Island got its name from Jose Gaspar, a famous local pirate who had his base on the island and is said to have hidden his immense treasure there. Gasparilla Island became an important stop for phosphate shipping until the dredging of the Port of Tampa, and a major vacation destination for the wealthy who used the railroad line to access world renowned fishing and the beauty of Boca Grande. Shipping dramatically declined after the turn of the 20th century, but tourism remains very important to the island's economy.

World-Class Beaches

While some areas are internationally recognized for their architecture or skyscrapers, Florida's Gulf Coast is most widely known for one thing: gorgeous beaches. For both residents and visitors from around the world, Florida's Gulf Coast beaches make spending time in our area truly special.

With miles of powder-soft sand lapped by gentle azure waters, each day is a tropical respite capped by a glorious sunset folding softly beyond the shimmering horizon.

SARASOTA COUNTY BEACHES

Blind Pass Beach—Located on Manasota Key Road, one mile north of the Charlotte County line on Manasota Key. Amenities include restrooms, parking, playground equipment, canoe launch, nature trail, large picnic shelter, and dune wildflowers. Please note that no lifeguards are on duty.

Brohard Beach—Located in the southern-most part of the City of Venice, on the Venice Airport property on Harbor Drive. This park is owned by the City of Venice and operated by Sarasota County. If you enjoy fishing for recreation, there is a 740-foot fishing pier on the property for public use. The pier contains restrooms, a snack bar, and a bait shop.

Caspersen Beach—Located south of the Venice Airport on Harbor Drive. As you visit this beach, you will find that the southern two-thirds of beachfront have been left in their natural state. Many people describe it as uncultivated, windswept and secluded. A dune restoration system with walkovers has been implemented to preserve the shoreline. Restrooms, picnic tables, and showers are available, but no lifeguards are on duty.

Crescent Beach—Noted for its powder-soft sand and crescent shape, Crescent Beach extends from the northern tip of Siesta Key and south past Siesta Beach to Point of Rocks. Relatively secluded and quiet, Crescent Beach has only one public access road.

Lido Beach—Located mid-island on Lido Key and only minutes from St. Armands Circle, the facilities here are outstanding. Besides the beautiful sand and sea, also provided are showers, lockers, dressing rooms, a 25-meter swimming pool, concession stand, public meeting rooms, beachwear souvenir boutique, and children's playground.

Longboat Key—Longboat Key is for those who prefer seclusion. These pristine beaches are a well-kept secret and public access is at a minimum.

Manasota Beach—Manasota Beach is located at the west end of Manasota Beach Road. This is a wonderful place to spend your leisure time whether you are interested in taking a walk, collecting shells, or maybe flying a kite. This beach is situated between the Gulf and the Intracoastal Waterway. As a convenience on the Intracoastal side, a boat ramp and docking facilities are available allowing access to the bays and Gulf. The 620 feet of dockage becomes a scenic boardwalk that meanders through the mangroves. Lifeguards are on duty.

Nokomis Beaches—To find the Nokomis beaches, turn west on Albee Road off U.S. 41 and cross over the Nokomis Bridge. Straight ahead, you'll find Nokomis Beach, with ample parking in two lots, lifeguards, picnic tables, grills and bathrooms. To the south is the coastal town of Venice.

North Jetty Beach—North Jetty Beach is located south of Nokomis Beach. The jetties make this one of the most exciting surfing beaches on the west coast of Florida. It is a very popular picnicking spot for families and large groups, and the fishing is spectacular. If you enjoy watching boats, this is a good place to engage in that activity. Boats can be seen daily as they pass through the jetties from the Intracoastal Waterway to the Gulf of Mexico. Amenities include restrooms, parking, bait shop, large and small picnic shelters, horseshoe courts, volleyball courts, concession, and dune walkovers. For your safety, lifeguards are on duty.

Lido Beach—North Lido Beach is a gorgeous half-mile stretch of beach encompassing 77 acres of land including over 3,000 feet of sandy beach. Located at the northern tip of Lido Key on the west-side of this is private beach with access only for residents of Lido Shores.

South Lido Beach is located at the south end of Ben Franklin Drive, at the southern tip of Lido Key. A 100-acre park interacts with four significant bodies of water: The Gulf of Mexico, Big Pass, Sarasota Bay and Brushy Bayou. The southern beach portion of the park offers expansive views of downtown Sarasota and the Gulf of Mexico. Lifeguards, restrooms, picnic tables and showers are available.

Palmer Point Beach—Palmer Point Beach begins at the southern tip of Siesta Key and continues onto the north end of Casey Key. The northern portion of this beach was previously the home of Mote Marine Laboratory. The closing of Midnight Pass in January of 1984 has created one continuous beach from the northern portion to Casey Key. This beach will give you a feeling of privacy and seclusion. It is a beautiful, gently sloping beach with a pristine dune system. The beach is a popular spot for boaters and people who like to walk along the shore from Turtle Beach. Two things to make note of if you are visiting: there are no lifeguards on duty, and there are no facilities present.

Siesta Public Beach—Located mid-island off Midnight Pass is where the action is and where you'll find the world's finest sand. It's the widest beach in the county and certainly the most popular—ranked the nation's number one beach in the 21st annual Top 10 Beach List, produced by coastal expert Dr. Stephen P. Leatherman, Director of Florida International University's Laboratory for Coastal Research. Facilities include a concession stand, restrooms, volleyball nets, tennis courts and year-round lifeguards. Pine trees shade an area for picnicking, with grills for cooking out and a playground for the children. This sparkling beach is also within walking distance to Siesta Village, a renowned shopping and dining destination with island flair.

Turtle Beach—Turtle Beach is a tranquil spot located on the southernmost tip of Siesta Key on Midnight Pass Road, about two and one-half miles south of Stickney Point Road. Less crowded than Siesta Beach, it is a wonderful place to spend a few hours sunbathing, reading or picnicking under its covered shelter.

Venice Public Beaches—If you want to sunbathe on smooth powdery sand or enjoy crystal-blue waters, Venice Public Beach, at the end of West Venice Avenue off Highway 41, offers picnic benches, restrooms and outdoor showers.

CHARLOTTE COUNTY BEACHES

Blind Pass Beach—Set on Manasota Key, Blind Pass Beach covers 66 acres of sand dunes, nature trails and shorelines on the Gulf of Mexico and Lemon Bay. Picnic shelters, restrooms and a playground make Blind Pass Beach an ideal retreat for families, couples or anyone looking for their own stretch of sand.

Don Pedro Island State Park—Located on a barrier island and accessible only by private boat or public ferry, Don Pedro Island Beach is a one-mile beach fronting the Gulf of Mexico and is perfect for sunbathing, fossil hunting, swimming and just getting away from civilization. Here, you will find the necessities of a wonderful day at the beach, including restrooms and outdoor showers to a picnic pavilion and barbecue grills.

Englewood Public Beach—Known for its wide shoreline perfect for sandcastle building, Englewood Public Beach is bordered by a long boardwalk providing extra amenities. The adjoining Chadwick Park has a playground area and public restrooms.

Port Charlotte Beach Park—Visitors enjoy the sandy beach at Port Charlotte Beach Park, but its main draw is the extensive recreational facilities, such as a heated swimming pool, five baseball fields, and basketball, tennis, beach volleyball, bocce and horseshoe courts. Canoers and kayakers can launch from the park, and a boat ramp and a fishing pier are also available.

Stump Pass Beach—Located at the south end of Manasota Key Road and known for its fossilized sharks' teeth, Stump Pass Beach State Park caters to environmentally minded beach-goers with its well-marked trail through five distinct habitats. During the summer, you can enjoy ranger-led turtle walks and beach nature hikes.

MANATEE COUNTY BEACHES

Anna Maria Bayfront Park—On the northern end of Anna Maria Island is a secluded beach that fronts both the Intracoastal Waterway and the Gulf of Mexico. According to the locals, this is the best beach in the area for finding unbroken sand dollars and scalloped cockleshells. Sunbathers discover small sand dunes, sea oats and a great view of the Sunshine Skyway Bridge. Park-goers can enjoy amenities such as a barbecue pit, picnic shelters, a playground, restrooms, showers and lifeguards.

Coquina Beach—On Anna Maria's southern tip is a lovely and popular public beach lined with towering Australian pines. Families can enjoy this park because of its full-service concession stand, ample parking, barbecue pits, picnic facilities, boat ramp, playground, restrooms, showers and lifeguards.

Cortez Beach—Also known as Bradenton Beach, it is located just north of Coquina on Gulf Blvd., and boasts three-fourths of a mile of sugar-white sand. Restrooms, lifeguards, and free parking available. Also enjoy a restaurant and snack bar that serves pancake breakfasts on weekends.

Greer Island (Beer Can Island)—Greer Island, at the north end of Longboat Key, is accessed by boat or North Shore Blvd., and is a beautiful, secluded peninsula with a wide beach that is great for kayaking and excellent for shelling. No facilities or lifeguards are available.

Holmes Beach—Found at the center of Anna Maria Island, Holmes Beach boasts over 14,400 feet of sandy Gulf of Mexico beach, as well as a full range of amenities including grills, a playground, showers and picnic area. Picnic tables shaded by majestic Australian pines are scattered near some of the entries.

Manatee County Beach—Located at the end of Manatee Avenue, the Manatee County Beach is a large public beach with free parking, concessions, lifeguards, restrooms, picnic tables and showers. An outdoor patio with umbrella-covered tables overlooks the volleyball courts, while a nearby playground accommodates the kids.

SPRING TRAINING ON FLORIDA'S GULF COAST: A WARM HOME FOR PROFESSIONALS

Ed Smith Stadium—Sarasota Baseball

Since the early 1900s, Sarasota and professional baseball have been a great match. In 1923, John Ringling helped convince the owner of the New York Giants to come to Sarasota to practice during the spring months. Through public subscriptions, a stadium was built and the team came in February of 1924. Since then, Sarasota has been home to the Indianapolis Indians, Boston Red Sox, Los Angeles Dodgers, Chicago White Sox, Cincinnati Reds, and currently the Baltimore Orioles. Now, each spring season provides the opportunity to see some of baseball's best right here in Ed Smith Stadium.

Cooltoday Park

Located in Wellen Park—an impressive planned community between Venice and North Port—CoolToday Park is the spring training home of the Atlanta Braves. The state-of-the-art facility was built with the fan experience in mind featuring 8,000 seats and a spacious concourse walkway with numerous drink rails that allows fans to watch a few innings from almost anywhere. Various group seating options and the delicious southern comfort fare also make this stadium a stand out. Not just for pre-season baseball, the seven fields and 90 acres of complex also hosts concerts, markets, and other local events.

Charlotte Sports Park

Located in Port Charlotte, the Charlotte County Stadium—now the Charlotte County Sports Park—served as the spring training and minor league home to the Texas Rangers from 1987–2002. In 2009, the stadium was renovated for the Tampa Bay Rays spring training season to the tune of $28 million. Today, the beautifully refurbished Charlotte Sports Park is a state-of-the-art facility with a baseball boardwalk bordering the outfield, a family-friendly kids' play area, upgraded concession stands and a top-notch team store. Charlotte Sports Park is also home to the Charlotte Stone Crabs of the Florida State League.

Lecom Park & Pirate City

LECOM Park (formerly McKechnie Field) has been the spring home of the Pittsburgh Pirates and the full-time home of their Class-A affiliate, the Bradenton Marauders since 1969. The park was originally built in 1923 and has been renovated several times, including major upgrades in 2013. Large groups enjoy the Boardwalk Barbeque Area where an all-you-can-eat pregame picnic is in full view of the field. Fans can also catch Pirates' practice and workouts at the Pirate City facility. Free and open to the public, this unique and intimate setting is perfect for those that simply love the game.

FLORIDA TAXES

Did you know Florida is one of only seven states that do not tax individual wage income? Florida does not impose personal income, inheritance, gift taxes or intangible personal property taxes. However, there are other taxes and fees that, in certain counties or circumstances, Florida residents may be required to pay.

If you purchase a home in Florida, you will pay ad valorem or “property” tax based on the taxable value of the property. Ad valorem taxes are assessed by the county property appraiser and collected annually by the county tax collector’s office. Also, a $25,000 homestead exemption and cap on assessed value is available to homeowners who meet certain requirements.

Visit the Florida Department of Revenue site at dor.myflorida.com for more tax information.

FLORIDA HOMESTEAD EXEMPTION

A tax exemption is an important benefit that offers Florida residents the opportunity to save up to hundreds of dollars on their property tax bills. The homestead exemption is the most common and valuable exemption, providing savings every year a homeowner owns and resides in their primary home.

Florida’s constitution provides for a $25,000 exemption, which is deducted from a property’s assessed value if the owner qualifies. Every person who owns and resides on real property in Florida on January 1st and makes the property their permanent residence is eligible to receive a homestead exemption up to $50,000. The first $25,000 applies to all property taxes, including school district taxes. The additional exemption up to $25,000, applies to the assessed value between $50,000 and $75,000 and only to non-school taxes. Applicants who timely file by March 1st, possess title to the real property, and are Florida residents living in the dwelling and making it their permanent home as of January 1st, qualify for the exemption.

HOMESTEAD EXEMPTION CRITERIA

To prove a homestead exemption, you may be required to provide any of the following items:

- Previous residency outside Florida and date ended
- Florida driver’s license or identification card number
- Evidence of giving up driver’s license from other state
- Florida vehicle tag number
- Florida voter registration number (if US citizen)
- Declaration of domicile, residency date
- Current employer
- Address listed on your last IRS return
- School location of dependent children
- Bank statement and checking account mailing address
- Proof of payment of utilities at homestead address
